DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 , 8, 11, 12, 22, 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yeh.

With regard to claims 1, 12, Yeh (US 5,106,312) discloses a CATV locking terminator mechanism, comprising a housing (10) having a chamber extending through the housing;

a connector body (20) having first and second ends, a front face, and a securement mechanism at the first end for securing the connector body to an output port, the connector body being configured to be positioned within the chamber such that the connector body freely rotates within the chamber; and a protrusion (22) formed at the front face for selective engagement with a cooperating tool (5) to rotate the connector body with respect to the output port.

With regard to claim 8, Yeh discloses a resistor (34) positioned within the connector body.

With regard to claim 11, Yeh discloses circumferential opening (13) formed between the protrusion and the housing and sized to restrict a person's hand or conventional tools from maintaining a grip on the protrusion.

With regard to claims 22, 29 Yeh discloses the structure of the CATV locking terminator mechanism which operates according to steps claimed.

Claims 12 , 14-18, 19, 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Doan et al.

Art Unit: 2833

With regard to claims 12,19, 21, Doan et al (US 5,163,345) disclose a tool (10) comprising a handle(25) a shaft having first and second ends; a cavity (33 formed at the first end for selective engagement with a cooperating connector to selectively rotate the connector; knob with gripped surfaceaffixed to the shaft.

With regard to claims 14-18, Doan et al disclose the tool which is shaped to accommodate any type of the fastening member (col. 3, lines 1-2)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-6, 9, 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yeh in view of Doan et al.

With regard to claims 2-6, Yeh discloses all of the limitationsexcept for the specified configuration of the protrusion.

Doan et al (US 5,163,345) disclose a tool (100 with a receptacle head (33) which is shaped to accommodate any type of the fastening member (col. 3, lines 1-2)

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the projection of one of specified profiles , as taught by Doan et al, to securily rotate the connector body simplify and prevent unauthorized using the CATV cable. ..

With regard to claims 9. 10, Yeh when modified by Doan discloses all of the limitations except for the specified sizes of the protrusion.

Art Unit: 2833

The above mentioned limitations are not patentably significant since they relate to the size of the article under consideration which is not ordinarily a matter of invention. In re Yount, 36 C.C.P.A. (Patents) 775, 171 F.2d 317, 80 USPQ 141.

With regard to claims 23-27, 30-36, Yeh when modified by Doan disclose the CATV locking terminator mechanism which operates according to steps claimed.

Claims 7, 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yeh in view of Yeh (US 5,011,422)

Yeh discloses all of the limitations except for O-ring positioned in the recess.

Yeh (US 5,011,422) disclose O-ring (39) positioned in the recess.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the Yeh's device with the O-ring, as taught by Yeh (US 5,011,422)

Claim 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Doan et al

With regard to claim 20, Doan et al discloses all of the limitations except for the specified sizes of the cavity.

The above mentioned limitations are not patentably significant since they relate to the size of the article under consideration which is not ordinarily a matter of invention. In re Yount, 36 C.C.P.A. (Patents) 775, 171 F.2d 317, 80 USPQ 141.
